To all my shipmates that I DIDN'T SERVE WITH, if you attend , you are in for one helluva suprise. Our common thread is serving on the GAL. Years aboard, division dosen't matter: we are all brothers in a sense. Some of MY GREATEST SHIPMATES AND FRIENDS are ones that I didn't serve with nor were in my division. It's always great to reassociate with shipmates that were in your division at the same time you were; but what you are missing is the opportunity to expand your horizons to meet some new great shipmates. Give it a shot! You,nor your spouse, friend, date, lover or special associate will not be dissapointed. I GUARANTEE IT. If not, I'll buy you a soda, beer or drink if you choose. Don't be bashful!!! Fair Winds and Following Seas. John Johovic

They are: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Slewing of the Talos launcher just moments before firing. The missiles shown in the video are actually "dummies" and have no means of propulsion or warhead. 2. Three technicians (not sailors) are placing a warhead assembly on a test stand. This was mostlikely filmed at either Concord or Yorktown Weapons Stations. 3. This shows a Talos being loaded aboard by a crane, most likely at either Concord or Yorktown WepSta. 4. Here the Talos is being "struck down" from the 02 level atop the missile house, via an elevator, into the Missile Magazine in the Missile House. 5. This shows Missile House Wing & Fin Area where a team of twelve (12) Gunner's Mates and Missile Techs installed the wings and fins. I have no idea as to what the sailor in the video is doing.... there was no need to actuate or arm anything manually as he appears to be doing. 6. Here the Missile House Blast Doors are shown opening viewed from inside the Wing & Fin Area. 7. Here the view is of the missile coming out onto the launcher. This is the "outside" view (from the fantail), of the event shown in segment #6. 8. Finally the payoff....The countdown proceeds "3 - 2- 1 - FIRE", and everyone clicks their camera shutter, but too late, the missile's gone. Hope this helps.

I made the WESTPAC and MED cruises. I was assigned to 2nd Division and become the compartment cleaner. Later I became the 1st LT yeoman (LT D.K. HUGHES was the 1st LT at that time.) SA HAZLETT (from Jackson MS) became a Weapons Office yeoman at the same time. The twin Hocker boys were also yeoman strikers. I was one of the last to leave the GALVESTON in March of 1970. I went to YN 'A' school. These were some "growing-up" times that I will not forget.

I took a SWAG at my division designation, since I didn't feel like going through cruise book pages at the time I was doing the profile page. I worked on the Sperry missile guidance computer which resided in the former aft magazine space, in between the inboard shaft alleys. Spent my nights during the wonderful Philadelphia summer sleeping in a fan room on top of the port shaft alley, since it was air conditioned, unlike our living space on the next deck up. Much as I enjoyed all the valuable training and experience I got during my extended (!) three-year Navy career, I decided that sea duty and shipboard living just wasn't something I wanted to do for 20 years or so. I have always felt that the Navy gave me much more than I gave them, but it could have easily been the other way around. No regrets. When I left the ship three days before the shakedown cruise, Soupy Campbell was the one that signed my discharge papers. I'm still looking for the plank they owe me, since I'm called a plank owner.

Well, I'm sure I have bored you sufficiently, so I'll sign off for now.

Regards,
Bob Stannard

First pix upload was too large. This try worked. >>note... click on the photo for a much bigger and better view.

Sorry, Jim Flynn--the guy off the Iowa was actually Jim Quinn. My memory is not quite what it used to be. But neither is anything else.

This web site rocks!
